- Services adapted to the reality of the textile and knitting industry
- A dynamic and specialized team in tune with the needs of its clientele

Created voluntarily under the Act respecting occupational health and safety, Préventex was the first joint sector-based association in the private sector. The association is an independent, non-profit organisation financed by contributions from the industry. Its services are offered at little or no cost to companies of the textile and knitting sector.

Mission

Help employers and workers in the industry to take active responsibility for the prevention of work-related accidents and diseases.

Strategic objectives

- Promote a service offer that is accessible and adapted to the needs and realities of the industry
- Encourage a culture of proactive joint intervention within the industry
- Establish and maintain a process of continuous improvement

Services

Beside information, training, counselling and technical support on matters regarding prevention and health and safety at work, Préventex also offers industrial hygiene and ergonomics services.
